

A Preview of South Carolina Data from the America After 3 PM Household Survey on Afterschool

Care Arrangements: In the America After 3 PM survey, South Carolina parents/guardians were asked about their children's regular participation in various afterschool care arrangements. (Note: Care arrangements add up to greater than 100% due to multiple regular care arrangements for many children.)

- While most South Carolina children, 68%, spend some portion of the hours after school in the care of a parent or guardian, 24% of South Carolina's K-12 youth are responsible for taking care of themselves. These children spend an average of nearly 7 hours per week unsupervised after school.*
- In contrast, only 13% of South Carolina's K-12 youth participate in afterschool programs. On average, afterschool participants spend 9 hours per week in afterschool programs.* Participation averages 3.5 days per week for 1.9 hours per day.*
- Other care arrangements include traditional child care centers (7%), sibling care (12%) and non-parental adult care, such as a grandparent or neighbor (13%).

Need or Demand for Afterschool

- Nearly 45% of the K-12 youth in self-care would be likely to participate in an afterschool program if one were available in the community.*
- Similarly, 41% of all children not in afterschool would be likely to participate if an afterschool program were available in the community, regardless of their current care arrangement.

Satisfaction with Afterschool Programs

- Eighty-five percent of South Carolina parents are extremely or somewhat satisfied with the afterschool program their child attends.*
- In South Carolina, the top 3 reasons cited for selecting an afterschool program are affordability, convenient location, and safety of facilities and teachers.*
- Parents of non-participants believe that their children would benefit most from afterschool programs in the following ways: by having fun, improved social skills, academic enrichment, and by staying safe and out of trouble.*

Contextual Information about Afterschool Programs

- In South Carolina, public schools, YMCAs, and religious organizations are the largest providers of afterschool programs. *
- On average, South Carolina families spend $18 per week for afterschool programs.*

Findings from the America After 3 PM household survey are based on parent/guardian responses to survey questions about after school care arrangements during the 2002-2003 school year. GE Consumer Finance and RTi-DFD conducted the survey and analyzed the data for the Afterschool Alliance, with support from the JCPenney Afterschool Fund. A complete analysis of state-level data and a full report from the survey will be available later this year. National data and previews of state data are available at www.afterschoolalliance.org.
